

Supervision Training for Children Centre Staff

At the Pen Green Research Base

13th & 14th September 2010 with a 3rd day follow up on 3rd November 2010

"Good supervision, we believe, should allow for a two-way flow in which both supervisor and supervisee are responsive to each other's input. Supervision therefore becomes a dynamic learning and development process in which both parties learn and grow together" (Page & Wosket)

What we hope you will gain from the course

- Exploration of your work practice and needs
- A deeper understanding of your effectiveness in the supervisor role
- Confidence building
- Authenticity through self-awareness and self knowledge
- Experience of providing and receiving feedback
- A greater commitment to your own and other's development

What we will be offering on the course

- The days will consist of some provocations and challenges
- There will be some small group and paired activities where you will draw on your own experiences of supervision and your individual life experiences
- The days will be relevant to staff from a range of backgrounds – teaching/social work/healthcare/learning support/childcare – who have, or who want to develop this aspect of their leadership role.

We believe that supervision is critical to supporting staff in the work that they do with children and parents and is also central to initiating and sustaining the individual's professional development

Course £675 per person for the three days training
